

Childline Workshop

Melanie and Sarah visited St. Peter's from an organisation called Child line, their key message is 'to help keep the children safe'. They delivered a presentation to the Year 5/6 and returned for an hour's lesson the following week to work with the children in smaller groups.

Their mascot is called Buddy which is based on a speech bubble. We discussed the circumstances of which a child might be suffering which may cause them upset, such as abuse in the form of bullying, cyber bullying, abuse or neglect.

'I have the right to be happy and safe' was the key message.

Most of the children had heard of the organisation and they discussed the ways they can contact them either using the phone 0800 1111 which is free using a mobile, landline or public phone and even if you haven't any money the call will go through like an emergency call. Or visit www.childline.org.uk. The number does not even appear on the phone bill.
