

Anglo-Saxons!

The Year 3/4 children at St Peter's School have recently had a wonderful visit to Kirkleatham Museum to support their current learning of the Anglo-Saxons. This visit has been a stimulus for the children to engage with a 'real' museum before creating their own Anglo-Saxon museum back at school.

The children were amazed by the wonderful artefacts, some of which were found in the local area! They were fascinated by the story of The Saxon Princess and the beautiful jewels that were found in her burial chamber. As they explored the displays, they used their senses to describe what they saw and wrote some fantastic descriptive paragraphs.

The children were able to use their creative skills to make an Anglo-Saxon helmet. These will be used back at school to create a display in our own Museum.

A truly wonderful day that proved to be a valuable learning experience for all!
